3. Don't question spot - but do use past papers where they are available. In a recent Prezi, Bristol University law lecturer Steven Vaughan recommends that students be smart in using past papers to help them identify which questions are more likely to come up in an exam. He provides this example of how to do so:

The Contract law paper followed the same format as last year with a requirement to answer four questions out of eight, a mix of problem and essay questions and a free choice as to which to answer.
