Orange Juice Outlook 2020/21 - research.rabobank.com Rabobank expects strong demand for coffee and cocoa, and a bullish outlook on wheat with rising consumption eating into stocks after US acreage record lows. Outlook 2018: Good Buy, Low Prices - Rabobank.com Rabobank expects growth in most regions in 2020, but the impact of ASF in Asia overwhelms the outlook. In particular, China's production losses will exceed the growth in all other regions combined. Across species, aquaculture and poultry will lead production growth in 2020, while beef will be stable, and wild-catch seafood will decline again. Rabobank Global Animal Protein Outlook 2020 However, an expected rebound in demand - coupled with supply constraints resulting from environmental reforms, government regulation, and unfavorable weather - will likely support global prices, according to Rabobank's latest Global Rabobank predicts a "significant risk" of a US recession in the second half of 2020. A downturn in the world's largest economy could reduce global demand for consumer staples such as coffee and cocoa.

 Global risks give farmers no respite in 2020 - Rabobank
 ASF culled about 55% of China's hog herd, creating a global pork and animal protein deficit and slowing global feed consumption growth. In 2020, China's feed consumption is expected to rebound slightly, amid a concerted move toward large industrial farms, commercial feed rations, slowing herd losses, and growth in other animal proteins.
 ACMR Outlook 2020 - research.rabobank.com
 The outlook for the global economy has become less rosy, and the downside risks have increased. World trade is clearly slowing. We expect a recession in the US at the end of 2020, and that the US central bank will cut interest rates once in 2019 and five times in 2020. We expect moderate growth in the eurozone.
