Le rêve et ses interprétations en Islam Wellfleet Press

The secular mind had a grand plan, to establish an earthly paradise, a utopia of the here and now, a modern civilization governed by human reason, rationality, and the triumph of progress. Whilst ideals are one thing, the means to realize them is something else. Away from the hype, emancipating humanity from the 'shackles' of God and religion has proved no easy matter. Mapping the Secular Mind critically examines issues of reason, rationality, and secular materialism, to explore how these mental perceptions, or ways of mapping the world, have affected human interaction and sociological development.

This book presents a detailed critical analysis of the work of Fatima Mernissi. Mernissi is considered to be one of the major figures in Feminist thought for both Morocco and Muslim society in general. This work discusses Mernissi's intellectual trajectory from 'secular' to 'Islamic' feminism in order to trace the evolution of so-called Islamic feminist theory. The book also engages critically with the work of other Muslim feminists, using frameworks and approaches developed in the works of Muslim reformist thinkers, namely Mohammed Arkoun and Nasr Abu Zaid, with the aim of engaging the theorization of this emerging Feminism.

La question de la conception, de la réception et de la mise en œuvre de procédés magiques en milieu musulman n'a guère suscité de travaux systématiques jusqu'à ces dernières années. Seuls deux auteurs ont abordé le problème de façon approfondie : Edmond Doutté dans "Magie et religion dans l'Afrique du Nord", qui date de 1908 et Tawfic Fand dans sa thèse publiée sous le titre "La divination arabe", en 1965 (réédition en 1987). On peut y ajouter l'ouvrage récent (2004), édité par Emilie Savage-Smith, "Magic and Divination in early Islam", qui reproduit des articles de divers auteurs, parfois anciens. Nous avons voulu montrer et expliquer les bases de pratiques contemporaines dans ce domaine, tout en explorant les textes historiques (du Coran à al-Bûnî) auxquels se réfèrent ces pratiques et en interrogeant, au passage, les réactions et conceptions d'auteurs musulmans (al-Qurtubî, Ibn Khaldûn). Nous avons surtout mis l'accent sur l'utilisation de l'écrit dans ces actes de magie : écrits conçus et prescrits par un homme de religion en général et appliqués sur des supports divers ; l'ouvrage consacre des chapitres aux supports plus ou moins habituels que sont le papier, le tissu (vêtements) ou le métal (coupes), avec reproduction des documents originaux. L'approche générale est anthropologique et islamologique. Les auteurs ont une connaissance de terrain de longue date des sociétés concernées, qui représentent un échantillon varié de pays à populations musulmanes : Tunisie, Yémen, Mauritanie, Sénégal, Mali, Comores, Madagascar, France. L'interprétation des écrits talismaniques a été rendue possible grâce à une longue fréquentation de milliers d'entre eux (récoltés par le fonds ALEP), grâce à des discussions et informations venant de praticiens de terrain et grâce à une lecture assidue des très nombreux " classiques " du genre, parmi lesquels al-Bûnî (XIIIe siècle) et son Shams al-macûrîf (" Soleil des connaissances "), toujours non traduit en langue européenne

Dreams are at the heart of a process where tangible and intangible worlds are intimately intermingled. Indeed, a dream is an intangible phenomenon occurring in a physical body that stands in an environment both material and informational (intangible). A systematic investigation of the connections between dreams and reality sheds new light on the dream process and on the functioning of the mind. This book invites you, the reader, to discover the results you can achieve through a more comprehensive and unified approach to the dream process. It gives you advice on how to carry out your own research. Reading this book will help you become better aware of the role played by your body at the meeting point between dreams and reality, between the tangible and the intangible (Chapter 1). The book describes an efficient method for observing the dream process (Chapter 2) and explains the results you can achieve with it through your own experimentation (Chapter 3). Through your personal exploration of the whole dream process you will be able to verify for yourself the reality of certain faculties of the mind which are commonly considered to be "paranormal". You will see that they can be explained rationally. Chapter 4 of the book explains how you can use the dream process to find answers to your questions, whether they regard your daily life (health, work, relationships, life guidance) or your artistic or scientific creativity. The last chapter (Chapter 5) explains why faculties today considered to be paranormal are destined to a natural collective awakening. With this book, I invite you to observe your dreams and their connections with your reality, with a mind as neutral as possible. This is the best way to understand the meaning of your dreams. Try, then, to forget all you have ever heard about dreams, and just look at them and observe the whole dream process, and not only the dreams. Everything I assert in the book can be verified through personal experience by using the proposed method of observation. With this method everyone, even the most skeptical person, can verify the existence of unusual faculties of the mind, and learn to develop and use them. Key words: dreams and reality, precognitive dreams, future in dreams, premonitory dreams, dream interpretation, meaning of dreams, paranormal faculties, telepathy, dreams and health, dreams and abundance, dreams and the past, mind and body, nightmares, dreaming brain, lucid dreams

Critical and theoretical essays by a long-time participant in the Art & Language movement. These essays by art historian and critic Charles Harrison are based on the premise that making art and talking about art are related enterprises. They are written from the point of view of Art & Language, the artistic movement based in England—and briefly in the United States—with which Harrison has been associated for thirty years. Harrison uses the work of Art & Language as a central case study to discuss developments in art from the 1950s through the 1980s. According to Harrison, the strongest motivation for writing about art is that it brings us closer to that which is other than ourselves. In seeing how a work is done, we learn about its achieved identity: we see, for example, that a drip on a Pollock is integral to its technical character, whereas a drip on a Mondrian would not be. Throughout the book, Harrison uses specific examples to address a range of questions about the history, theory, and making of modern art—questions about the conditions of its making and the nature of its public, about the problems and priorities of criticism, and about the relations between interpretation and judgment.

L'interprétation des songes a toujours provoqué la curiosité de toutes les sociétés, fussent-elles désacralisées come c'est le cas de la nôtre. Du songe du prophète Joseph à celui de Nabuchodonosor en passant par les visions des pères du désert ou celles d'Anne Catherine Emmerich, il n'est pas une communauté qui n'ait considéré le rêve comme un message à décoder convenablement afin d'en tirer le meilleur parti possible, tant dans l'ordre spirituel que dans le domaine temporel. La société islamique n'a pas échappé à la règle et le rêve constitue encore de nos jours un des éléments dont les musulmans se servent pour régler leur conduite. Ulslam a du reste quasiment ritualisé cette attitude puisqu'il existe une prière qualifiée de "demande du meilleur parti à prendre", à la suite de laquelle le croyant espère voir en rêve la réponse à sa demande. L'Interprétation des Rêves attribuée à Ibn Sîrîn, oniromancien et traditionniste à la réputation confirmée, et dont la lecture connaît encore de nos jours un grand succès populaire, présente au lecteur non arabophone un aspect fondamental de l'imaginaire musulman à travers ce genre mineur.

This book presents a critical evaluation of the doctrine of the Trinity, tracing its development and investigating the intellectual, philosophical and theological background that shaped this influential doctrine of Christianity. Despite the centrality of Trinitarian thought to Christianity and its importance as one of the fundamental tenets that differentiates Christianity from Judaism and Islam, the doctrine is not fully formulated in the canon of Christian scriptural texts. Instead, it evolved through the conflation of selective pieces of scripture with the philosophical and religious ideas of ancient Hellenistic milieu. Marian Hillar analyzes the development of Trinitarian thought during the formative years of Christianity from its roots in ancient Greek philosophical concepts and religious thinking in the Mediterranean region. He identifies several important sources of Trinitarian thought heretofore largely ignored by scholars, including the Greek middle-Platonic philosophical writings of Numenius and Egyptian metaphysical writings and monuments representing divinity as a triune entity.

The Intersection of Adult Development and Learning is the first handbook to explore the ways in which adult roles, functions, interests, motivations, and contexts lead to synchronous development and learning. The chapters in this volume, written by leaders in their respective areas, elaborate on topics that show the interplay between adult development and learning. As the chapter contributors ably demonstrate, it is now abundantly clear that adult learning and development reinforce each other.

In this, his most famous and influential work, Jung made a dramatic break with the Freudian psychoanalytic tradition. Rather than focusing on psychopathology and its symptoms, the Swiss psychiatrist studied dreams, mythology, and literature to define the universal patterns of the psyche. It foreshadows his development of the theory of collective unconscious.

This gospel is reported by Barnabas, one of the 12 apostles of Jesus. The sincere reader will be immediately aware of the immense wisdom it contains. Many Muslims consider that if a Gospel is to be chosen to designate the one mentioned in the Koran, it is this. In this work, no partner has ever been given to God: the axiom "There is existence and oneness of God" is never violated. In addition, Jesus announces the coming of the last prophet of God: Muhammad. This gospel is for many people (including Muslims) the most authentic of all. Whether you are Muslim, Christian, Jewish, or a disbeliever, it is a must read for everyone. Judge by yourself !
