Counseling the Nursing

Mother National

Academies Press

In our society's

aggressive pursuit of

cures for cancer, we have neglected symptom

control and comfort care.

Less than one percent of the National Cancer

Institute's budget is spent on any aspect of palliative care research or education, despite the half million people who die of cancer each year and the larger number

living with cancer and its symptoms. Improving

Palliative Care for Cancer

examines the

barriers—scientific,

policy, and social—that

keep those in need from getting good palliative care. It goes on to recommend public- and private-sector actions that would lead to the development of more

effective palliative

interventions; better

information about

currently used

interventions; and greater knowledge about, and access to, palliative care for all those with cancer who would benefit from it.
