Munculnya ISIS/IS dan ancaman yang diciptakannya telah melahirkan kewaspadaan tinggi di berbagai negara dan memaksa pemimpin mereka untuk meresponsnya dengan cepat dan efektif, sejak dari hulu hingga hilirnya. Termasuk upaya di bagian hulunya dalam hal ini adalah pekerjaan penyiapan legislasi, sehingga dapat memetakan permasalahan dan tingkat ancaman yang diberikan secara komprehensif dan tepat. Untuk itu, dibutuhkan sebuah penelitian yang mendalam, yang dapat memberikan gambaran yang utuh, dengan data atau informasi yang komprehensif mengenai sifat dan besarnya ancaman yang datang dari ISIS/IS ke negara Indonesia. Sebagai sebuah negara, Indonesia sangat terancam, karena kondisinya yang amat beragam dalam berbagai hal, dan letaknya yang strategis, sekaligus rawan, di persimpangan jalur pelayaran dunia. Indonesia menjadi sangat terancam, karena pekerjaan rumahnya selama ini yang belum dapat diselesaikan, terkait pembangunan manusia dan karakter bangsa, serta pembangunan fisik dalam penciptaan kesejahteraan dan keadilan sosial di berbagai bidang. Dengan kondisinya sebagai negara yang sangat terbuka aksesnya untuk dimasuki warga berbagai bangsa dan pendatang dari berbagai penjuru dunia, negeri ini menjadi incaran yang menggiurkan para pengikut, pendukung, dan simpatisan ISIS/IS untuk dipengaruhi dan dijadikan bagian dari gerakan khilafah sejagat ISIS/IS di bawah pemimpin mereka di Suriah dan Irak, Abu Bakar al-Baghdadi. ISIS/IS merupakan gerakan sektarian global, yang antikeberagaman, dan dikelola di bawah kekuasaan yang monolitik dan represif. Mereka secara realistis tidak menghendaki sama sekali kehadiran sebuah negara bangsa dan modern, yang dipersatukan oleh gagasan nasionalisme dan cita-cita negara bangsa, serta yang mendasarkan diri pada ideologi modern lainnya. ISIS/IS tentu saja juga tidak menghendaki terbentuk dan bertahannya sebuah imagined community seperti Indonesia, yang sudah dicita-citakan dan diperjuangkan dengan segala pengorbanan oleh para pendiri dan mereka yang hendak mempertahankannya.

This book examines current trends in scholarly thinking about the new field of the Environmental Humanities, focusing in particular on how the history of globalization and imperialism represents a special challenge to the representation of environmental issues. Essays in this path-breaking collection examine the role that narrative, visual, and aesthetic forms can play in drawing attention to and shaping our ideas about long-term and catastrophic environmental challenges such as climate change, militarism, deforestation, the pollution and management of the global commons, petroculturalism, and the commodification of nature. The volume presents a postcolonial approach to the environmental humanities, especially in conjunction with current thinking in areas such as political ecology and environmental justice. Spanning regions such as Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe, Latin America and the Caribbean, Australasia and the Pacific, as well as North America, the volume includes essays by founding figures in the field as well as new scholars, providing vital new interdisciplinary perspectives on: the politics of the earth; disaster, vulnerability, and resilience; political ecologies and environmental justice; world ecologies; and the Anthropocene. In engaging critical ecologies, the volume poses a postcolonial environmental humanities for the twenty-first century. At the heart of this is a conviction that a thoroughly global, postcolonial, and comparative approach is essential to defining the emergent field of the environmental humanities, and that this field has much to offer in understanding critical issues surrounding the creation of alternative ecological futures.

Generation Y has grown up in an age of the brand, bombarded by name products. In Branded, Alissa Quart illuminates the unsettling new reality of marketing to teenagers, as well as the quieter but no less worrisome forms of teen branding: the teen consultants who work for corporations in exchange for product; the girls obsessed with cosmetic surgery who will do anything to look like women on TV; and those teens simply obsessed with admission into a name-brand college. We also meet the pockets of kids attempting to turn the tables on the cocksure corporations that so cynically strive to manipulate them. Chilling, thought-provoking, even darkly amusing, Branded brings one of the most disturbing and least talked about results of contemporary business and culture to the fore-and ensures that we will never look at today's youth the same way again.

We are delighted to introduce Proceedings of the 3rd International Symposium On Religious Life (ISRL 2020). This conference has brought academicians, researchers, developers and practitioners around the world. In collaboration with Indonesian Consortium for Religious Studies (ICRS) and Indonesian Institute of Sciences (LIPI), the Agency for Research, Development and Training of the Ministry of Religious Affairs (MoRA) convened bi-annual symposium with the following main theme: "Religious Life, Ethics and Human Dignity in the Disruptive Era". The 3rd ISRL highlighted the role of religion and ethics in the disruptive era that erode human values, civility, and dignity. In the processes of development and technological revolution, religion can play an essential role in providing spiritual, moral, and ethical guidance. In the context of the Covid-19 pandemic, religion is perceived in two ways: on the one hand, some faith communities have been willfully negligent and become 'super-spreaders' of the dangerous virus by defying stay-at-home orders. Yet, on the other hand, religion has also galvanized its adherents to support economically vulnerable and marginalized communities affected by the lockdown and social restrictions. Likewise, in democratization, religion gives society the necessary dynamic thrust to maintain its vibrancy, resiliency, and sustainability. This Symposium is therefore expected to delve into the complexity of how religion, religious values and faith communities confront the contemporary challenges to uphold ethics and human dignity. We strongly believe that ISRL conference provides a good forum for all academicians, researcher, developers and practitioners to discuss all religious Life, ethics and human dignity. We also expect that the future ISRL conference will be as successful and stimulating, as indicated by the contributions presented in this volume.

From Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s daughter, Dr. Bernice A. King: "My father's dream continues to live on from generation to generation, and this beautiful and powerful illustrated edition of his world-changing "I Have a Dream" speech brings his inspiring message of freedom, equality, and peace to the youngest among us—those who will one day carry his dream forward for everyone." On August 28, 1963, on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial during the March on Washington, Martin Luther King gave one of the most powerful and memorable speeches in our nation's history. His words, paired with Caldecott Honor winner Kadir Nelson's magnificent paintings, make for a picture book certain to be treasured by children and adults alike. The themes of equality and freedom for all are not only relevant today, 50 years later, but also provide young readers with an important introduction to our nation's past.

They were each born with the gift of gospel. Martin's voice kept people in their seats, but also sent their praises soaring. Mahalia's voice was brass-and-butter - strong and smooth at the same time. With Martin's sermons and Mahalia's songs, folks were free to shout, to sing their joy. On August 28, 1963, Martin Luther King, Jr. gave his famous "I Have a Dream" speech from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial, and his strong voice and powerful message were joined and lifted in song by world-renowned gospel singer Mahalia Jackson. It was a moment that changed the course of history and is imprinted in minds forever. Told through Andrea Davis Pinkney's poetic prose and Brian Pinkney's evocative illustration, the stories of these two powerful voices and lives are told side-by-side -- as they would one day walk -- following the journey from their youth to a culmination at this historical event when they united as one and inspiring kids to find their own voices and speak up for what is right.
