we have the theme of memory, responsibility, decisions, conflict, escape, guilt, paralysis and letting go (or rather the inability to let go). Short Story Analysis: Eveline by James Joyce - The Sitting Bee One of the most fascinating elements of "Eveline" in Dubliners, by James Joyce is the way the whole of a life is summarized through small images and the act of witness—both on the part of the reader as well as the character as this character offers a summary of important life events that culminate into one moment. While certainly the story of "Eveline" in "The Dubliners" by James Joyce culminates in her final decision not to leave that which is familiar, one could easily argue ...An Analysis of "Eveline" in The Dubliners by James Joyce James Joyce's "Eveline" is a short story about a nineteen-year-old Eveline, who contemplates abandoning a life she is accustomed to and moving to a distant land with a man she hardly knows. In one hand she holds the weight of uncertain happiness, in the other, inevitable misery. Eveline needs to make a choice between two contrasting lives; one in which she is a servant to her father, in other, a respected wife. Literary Analysis Of Eveline - 1019 Words | Bartleby Summary and Analysis. Eveline. Summary. Eveline Hill, a 19-year-old woman who works in a Dublin shop, sits inside her family's house recalling childhood, including some happy memories as well as her father's drunken brutality to her and her siblings. Eveline thinks about people she has known who have either left Ireland (a priest who has traveled to Melbourne, for example) or died (her mother and her brother Ernest), and of her own plans to leave the country with a man named Frank. Eveline - CliffsNotes Literary Analysis Of Eveline. 731 Words 3 Pages. Authors often use literary techniques to convey a central theme in their writing. In his collection of short stories, Dubliners, James Joyce uses a multitude of literary techniques to communicate the ideas of escape and freedom. Joyce's use of narrative perspective, selection of detail, and conventional diction in his short story "Eveline" allow him to express Eveline's oppressive environment as well as her ultimate submissive nature to it.
