 'Two young women plunging into post-war Bosnia like two Alices into Wonderland . . . smart, energetic, passionate, announcing a major talent.' - Aleksandar Hemon Sara hasn't seen or heard from her childhood best-friend, Lejla, in years. She's comfortable with her life in Dublin, with her partner, their avocado plant, and their naturist neighbour. But when Lejla calls and demands she come home to Bosnia, Sara finds that she can't say no. What begins as a road trip becomes a journey through the past, as the two women set off to find Armin, Lejla's brother who disappeared towards the end of the Bosnian War. Presumed dead by everyone else, only Lejla and Sara believed Armin was still alive. Confronted with the limits of memory, Sara is forced to reconsider the things she thought she understood as a girl: the best friend she loved, the first experiences they shared, but also the social and religious lines that separated them, that brought them such different lives. Translated into English by Lana Bastašić, Catch the Rabbit tells the story of how we place the ones we love on pedestals, and then wait for them to fall off, how loss marks us indelibly, and how the traumas of war echo down the years.

"Ben, it is time for your bed, you have had your tea." "I can't go to bed, there is a monster out on the hill you see." Follow the story of the monster that stops Ben from going to bed. Ben is convinced that the monster is real and wants to eat him for his tea. "I am invisible to mums," said the monster, "and we don't lie." Ben screamed! "It has a big round back and scales all along." Is there really a monster on the Hill? Ben's mum doesn't think so. Will Ben really become the monster's tea? Now it's time for you to read the story and see?

Wider World. Students' Book. Per Le Scuole Superiori. Con E-book. Con 2 Espansioni Online Nam H Nguyen

An attractive and innovative four-level course for lower-secondary students. Each unit of the Student's Book is divided into 3 manageable steps with clear aims and outcomes. Students can see quick results through regular 'Use what you know' sections at the end of each step. 'Life and culture' sections and a continuous story provides rich reading material while stimulating students' imaginations. There is a variety of exercises where students can work to their own level, making the course ideal for mixed ability classes. Coursework activities per module allow students to build up portfolios of work while online 'Infoquests' send students on a journey of discovery in English.

The volume contains most updated theoretical and empirical research on foreign or second language processes analyzed from the perspective of cognition and affect. It consists of articles devoted to various issues related to such broad topics as gender, literacy, translation or culture, to mention a few. The collection of papers offers a constructive and inspiring insight into a fuller understanding of the interconnection of the language-cognition-affect trichotomy.

Learn why myths give us meaning. When we think of something that's not true, we tend to say, "That's just a myth!" But at the same time, we treasure collections of ancient Greek or Egyptian mythology. That's because myths tell us stories that inform our interpretation of the world. Written by controversial psychologist and right-wing celebrity Jordan Peterson, Maps of Meaning (1999) posits that myths bring meaning to our lives and that we need them, whether we believe in them or not.
