Bagi orang-orang kebanyakan, usia dua puluh lima berarti sudah punya pekerjaan tetap dengan gaji lumayan. Bisa ngopi siang-siang di Starbuck tanpa mikirin besok makan sama apa meski punya cicilan mobil sama KPR. Punya pasangan yang bakal mengisi rumah impian yang siap sedia memasak makan malam yang lezat, dan sosok yang bakal mengisi jok sebelah sambil mendengarkan curhatan-curhatan mumet selama di kantor. Iya, itu curhatannya orang-orang. Sebenarnya gue juga orang, tapi sayangnya belum mengarah ke sana. Boro-boro. Status di kantor masih pegawai kontrak, rumah masih numpang di orangtua, baru saja diputusin sama calon istri minggu lalu gara-gara gue belum semapan yang dibayangkan. Dan sekarang gue sedang berusaha menemukan diri gue dalam menghadapi quarter life crisis di usia sekarang.

This is a study of the management problems experienced by selected metropolitan cities in South and East Asia and of the approaches adopted in resolving them. Although the region contains many of the world's developing countries, it is not an exception to the universal trends in urbanization, which have had a massive impact on its metropolitan cities. Apart from Tokyo, the cities concerned tend to dominate the economic and political scene in their respective countries, but for the purposes of this discussion it is not inappropriate to refer to them and the problems they face as being broadly metropolitan. Urban geographers and planners now tend to use the term 'metropolitan' to refer to a large identifiable area of continuous urbanization consisting of several administrative jurisdictions. Demographers today often classify cities with populations of more than one million people as metropolitan, and in common usage the term is widely employed to symbolize social, economic, and political status. All of these characteristics apply to the cities studied here.
