What produces mental illness: genes, environment, both, neither? The answer can be found in memes—replicable units of information linking genes and environment in the memory and in culture—whose effects on individual brain development can be benign or toxic. This book reconceptualizes mental disorders as products of stressful gene-meme interactions and introduces a biopsychosocial template for meme-based diagnosis and treatment. A range of therapeutic modalities, both broad-spectrum (meditation) and specific (cognitive-behavioral), for countering negative memes and their replication are considered, as are possibilities for memetic prevention strategies. In this book, the author outlines the roles of genes and memes in the evolution of the human brain; elucidates the creation, storage, and evolution of memes within individual brains; examines culture as a carrier and supplier of memes to the individual; provides examples of gene-meme interactions that can result in anxiety, depression, and other disorders; proposes a multi-axial gene-meme model for diagnosing mental illness; identifies areas of meme-based prevention for at-risk children; and defines specific syndromes in terms of memetic symptoms, genetic/memetic development, and meme-based treatment.

I CAN'T CLAIM HER...BUT SHE WILL CALL ME MASTER. I was born blind. My genes are defective.

Unsuitable for breeding. That's the only reason I don't claim the alluring human we rescued from a slave auction. I have no intention of mating her, especially since she's meant for another. But when she calls me Master, I can't help but take command. And command I will.

An Alien Warrior Romance Createspace Independent Publishing Platform

These aliens are looking for love in all the wrong solar systems... Cutlass never thought he'd be stuck on some backward planet in a solar system with only one sun. Earth wasn't his home, but he'd find a way to survive there if it meant finding a mate. He could put up with their ancient mechanical devices and a name that wasn't his own for the right woman. Chloe never imagined she'd sign up to be some sort of modern-day mail order bride. But too much wine and an internet connection were a bad combination, especially when the life she imagined seemed so much greater than the life she was living. Everyone stretches the truth on those dating websites, right? One ad in a space station, one night of too much drinking, and one hotel room that will never be the same. What would you do if you found out the man from your fantasies was actually the man from your science fiction?
