Comunicacin y cultura Pearson

"Why Conexiones? Welcome to the sixth edition of Conexiones: Comunicación y cultura! Since the very beginning we have worked to provide a complete intermediate program that brings a broad learner audience to a true intermediate level of proficiency. With each edition, we strive to provide continuity from first- to second-year Spanish with engaging and pedagogically sound materials. After completion of our program, when learners go to use Spanish in their work or personal lives, they will have developed confidence in the language and the ability to express themselves on topics relevant to the issues of our time. Why is Conexiones such an effective tool for language learning? Because it provides solutions to the most common challenges of language teaching: ? A solid yet flexible bridge from introductory to intermediate Spanish. Our program meets learners where they are, and allows instructors the flexibility of adapting lessons to varying needs and levels. Conexiones takes learners from speaking words and phrases to creating with language; from writing lists and short messages to expressing meaning in practical ways; from understanding of key words and cognates to understanding simple speech and texts. Our program guides learners to an intermediate high level of proficiency as defined by ACTFL's Proficiency Guidelines 2012"--

Conexiones 4e is a contemporary new take on a consistent favorite: every aspect of every chapter has been re-imagined, revitalized and renewed to appeal to today's Spanish student. Building on its recognized strengths, Conexiones 4e retains all the hallmarks of the title: a unique and thorough grammar scope and sequence, careful progression of activities for all skills, and a focus on student involvement, participation and exchange. The new edition, however, introduces exciting new chapter themes and new takes on familiar themes, a new Conéctate section focusing on the 5Cs of the National Standards, and a completely new and fully-integrated video component, all within a fresh new design. This Books á la Carte Edition is an unbound, three-hole punched version of the textbook and provides students the opportunity to personalize their book by incorporating their own notes and taking only the portion of the book they need to class — all at an affordable price.

The organization of the Workbook parallels that of the main text and it also provides useful review for students. The Workbook offers further practice of each chapter's vocabulary and grammatical structures through form-based exercises including sentence-building activities, completion exercises, fill-ins, and realia-based activities. The Lab Manual activities are used in conjunction with the Audioprogram recordings of listening comprehension passages. Listening strands include recordings of authentic conversations, interviews, announcements, news reports, and so on. A variety of comprehension-check and information-processing activities follow each listening passage. Answers to these activities are found at the end of the Workbook/Lab Manual.

How do you know what you know is true? During the blizzard of 1978, a woman is discovered face down at the edge of her Delaware estate, a boxer, half-dead, by her side. Nearby, in a deep ravine, a CIA officer lies buried under two feet of snow. Their secret meeting--sabotaged. When Emma Quinn gets a call in her Manhattan apartment--your grandmother, out walking her dog, found dead in the snow--she has no reason to suspect foul play. A history professor at Columbia and the sole heir to the Quinn fortune, she heads down to Delaware, where her grandmother's death has triggered a series of unsettling events--a break-in at the estate, an unexpected visit from the CIA and the discovery of a disturbing collection of news clippings in an upstairs study--about hijackings, bombings and acts of terror. Back in Manhattan, Emma is being followed by a mysterious stranger. Her distress grows when she meets a well-known historian, a Scotsman and Sovietologist named Angus McLearn, who accuses her late grandfather of wrongdoing during the 1930s and '40s. Determined to clear her grandfather's name and to understand her grandmother's fate, Emma forms an uneasy alliance with McLearn. Together, they head deeper into an intrigue that harks back to the beginnings of the Cold War and the early days of the intelligence community. As Emma's research and the CIA's investigation into the death of their agent begin to intersect, she no longer knows who or what to believe. And it soon becomes apparent that this isn't just about something that happened in the 1940s. It's about an operation that is still in play in 1978, one that puts Emma--and the broader world--at risk. When a discovery leads her to her family's remote Adirondack cabin, the stranger follows. There, Emma is forced to confront the truth--about her family and about history as we know it.

Edmund Leach's book investigates the writings of 'structuralists,' and their different theories: the general incest theory and of animal sacrifice. This book is designed for the use of teaching undergraduates in anthropology, linguistics, literary studies, philosophy and related disciplines faced with structuralist argument. It provides the prolegomena necessary to understand the final chapter of Levi-Strauss's massive four-volume Mythologiques. Some prior knowledge of anthropological literature is useful but not essential. The principal ethnographic source is the Book of Leviticus; this guide should help anyone who is trying to grasp the essentials of 'seminology' - the general theory of how signs and symbols come to convey meaning. The author's core thesis is that: 'the indices in non-verbal communication systems, like the sound elements in spoken language, do not have meaning as isolates, but only as members of set'; the book's special merit is that it makes this kind of jargon comprehensible in terms of our everyday experience.

Social media penetrate our lives: Facebook, YouTube, Twitter and many other platforms define daily habits of communication and creative production. This book studies the rise of social media, providing both a historical and a critical analysis of the emergence of major platforms in the context of a rapidly changing ecosystem of connective media. Author José van Dijk offers an analytical prism that can be used to view techno-cultural as well as socio-economic aspects of this transformation as well as to examine shared ideological principles between major social media platforms. This fascinating study will appeal to all readers interested in social media.

Drawing on a wide range of social and psychological theories, Castells presents original research on political processes and social movements. He applies this analysis to numerous recent events - the misinformation of the American public on the Iraq War, the global environmental movement to prevent climate change, the control of information in China and Russia, Barak Obama's internet-based presidential campaigns, and (in this new edition) responses to recent political and economic crises such as the Arab Spring and the Occupy movement. On the basis of these case studies he proposes a new theory of power in the information age based on the management of communication networks.

Television, Audiences and Cultural Studies presents a multi-faceted exploration of audience research, in which David Morley draws on a rich body of empirical work to examine the emergence, development and future of television audience research. In addition to providing an introductory overview from a cultural studies perspective, David Morley questions how class and cultural differences can affect how we interpret television, the significance of gender in the dynamics of domestic media consumption, how the media construct the 'national family', and how small-scale ethnographic studies can help us to understand the global-local dynamics of postmodern media systems. Morley's work reconceptualises the study of 'ideology' within the broader context of domestic communications, illuminating the role of the media in articulating public and private spheres of experience and in the social organisation of space, time and community.
