 Renowned economist and author of Big Business Tyler Cowen brings a groundbreaking analysis of capitalism, the job market, and the growing gap between the one percent and minimum wage workers in this follow-up to the New York Times bestseller The Great Stagnation. The United States continues to mint more millionaires and billionaires than any country ever. Yet, since the great recession, three quarters of the jobs created here pay only marginally more than minimum wage. Why is there growth only at the top and the bottom? Economist and bestselling author Tyler Cowen explains that high earners are taking ever more advantage of machine intelligence and achieving ever-better results. Meanwhile, nearly every business sector relies less and less on manual labor, and that means a steady, secure life somewhere in the middle—average—is over. In Average Is Over, Cowen lays out how the new economy works and identifies what workers and entrepreneurs young and old must do to thrive in this radically new economic landscape. Average Is Over Random House La ciudad, a short novel by uruguayan cult author Mario Levrero, is the first part of the celebrated "involuntary trilogy." In this work of overflowing imagination we are driven down a winding, surprising path, visiting the most extraordinary locations and facing incredible events. By now a classic of XX century Latinamerican fiction, La ciudad is like no other book you have ever read.

Using the powerful approach of classical teachers, Shah has crafted a contemporary teaching tool that blends a fastpaced look at today's world with the timeless teachings of the Sufis. The book brings into sharp focus the conditioned behavior and self-deception that are common in Western minds. Far more than a literary tool for breaking loose old mental habits, it is a blueprint for a process of self-development that precludes self-deceit.

Truly a book among books, A Perfumed Scorpion is treasured the world over for its clarity of wisdom and forcefulness of insight.

Las tres pasiones

La nueva novela de la autora de La bastarda de Estambul y El arquitecto del universo transcurre a caballo entre Estambul e Inglaterra, entre la tradición y el afán por descubrir otras maneras

de ver la vida. « Muchos quieren cambiar el mundo; otros intentan cambiar a sus seres queridos, pero casi nadie está dispuesto a cambiarse a sí mismo.» Elif Shafak Érase una vez un sultán que una noche de tormenta empezó a leer unos espléndidos poemas del gran Nefi. De repente, un rayo alcanzó los jardines del palacio, y el hombre pensó que aquella era una maldición. Rompió en mil	pedazos las páginas del libro, las lanzó al Bósforo y ordenó la muerte del poeta. Desde entonces, las aguas de ese mar son tan negras como la tinta de aquellos poemas perdidos... Ignorancia y poder: una mezcla explosiva que puede provocar mucho dolor inútil, y de eso nos habla Peri, una joven que vive a caballo entre Estambul y Oxford, lidiando con las ideas políticas del	padre y la devoción religiosa de su madre. La chica duda, investiga, y finalmente cree haber encontrado un camino hacia la verdad cuando encuentra a un profesor excéntrico, que estimula a sus estudiantes con preguntas siempre nuevas. Su guía son las tres pasiones que según Bertrand Russell mueven los destinos de los humanos: el deseo de amor, la búsqueda del

conocimiento y la compasión por el dolor ajeno. La teoría tiene sentido, el reto es apasionante, pero habrá que ver cómo actuar cuando estas tres pasiones choquen con una realidad donde el deseo pide paso. Con estos mimbres, Elif Shafak ha escrito una novela hermosa y necesaria, para invitarnos a mover nuestras propias aguas negras que a menudo nos	impiden caminar. Reseña: «La narración de Shafak es siempre ágil, con una notable fuerza visual respecto de la acción que convierte aquella en un extenso guion cinematográfico.» El País «Shafak indaga en el papel de la mujer en una sociedad donde la libertad no siempre es un bien común, al alcance de todos». Culturamas «La novela posee un trasfondo reflexivo	implícito en el título que hace referencia a "las tres pasiones" que mueven a los humanos: el deseo de amor, la búsqueda de conocimiento y la compasión por el dolor ajeno». A Time to Dance Gale Ecco, Print Editions Plebeian Prose is a key work by the pioneering Argentine Brazilian anthropologist, sociologist and poet Néstor Perlongher. Perlongher, whose work has been highly influential in the development of Latin American cultural theory and literature, represents an original critical 'queer' voice in Latin American thought. This book is an exploration of the politics of desire, questions of identity, Latin American neo-baroque aesthetics, sexual dissidence, violence and jouissance. Prompted by his reading of Gilles Deleuze, the link between politics and desire remains central to all Perlongher's reflections and gives his writings a lasting topicality. A thinker of the streets with a keen interest in those on the margins of society, the ideas that are developed in this book offer a lucid critique of capitalism and institutional power. Perlongher's approach also reflects a particular Latin American neo-baroque style, a mode of critique whose value endures today. Providing insight into Latin American culture and politics of the late twentieth century, Plebeian Prose will be of particular interest to anyone working on critical theory, literary theory, anthropology, sociology and gender studies.
