Arguing that ethnicity and multiculturalism are essential for understanding globalization, Jan Nederveen Pieterse offers one of the first sustained treatments of the reach of these key forces beyond a limited national context. He shows that multiethnicity preceded the nation-state by millennia; but argues that states, feeling the threat to their national identities, seek to control or suppress it. Contemporary multiculturalism, another attempt to regulate multiethnicity, is a work in progress in which dramas of global inequality are played out. This groundbreaking book adopts a kaleidoscopic and comparative-historical perspective that intertwines strands of social science and western and non-western research as a strategy to overcome the disciplinary and regional fragmentation of most discussions. Moving beyond worn notions of ethnicity and multiculturalism, Nederveen Pieterse proposes ethnicities and global multiculturalism as alternative, wide-angle perspectives on cultural diversity. Global multiculturalism, he convincingly demonstrates, offers a fresh account of layered cultural dynamics amid accelerated globalization.

Memory and Cultural History of the Spanish Civil War

IGI Global Podemos sostener sin complejos que la Historia de España, comparada con la de cualquier otra nación, es única, irrepetible e inimitable; es asombrosa, increíble e incomparable. Otros pueblos han escrito páginas únicas alcanzando las más altas cimas de la gloria, pero ningún pueblo ha protagonizado una historia que en conjunto pueda aproximarse a la Historia de España. Esta comparación solo puede establecerse en base a la capacidad de un pueblo para construir el mundo, no solo en una determinada época, sino para el futuro. Cabe decir que uno solo de los muchos acontecimientos importantes vividos por los españoles ya situaría nuestra historia entre las más destacadas. El conjunto de ellos, la convierten en única. Sin duda nos debemos al Imperio Español sin complejos, que ha construido el mundo, y especialmente Occidental y como lo conocemos. El descubrimiento y la evangelización de América han contribuido a ello y se encuentran entre las gestas más extraordinarias de la historia humana.

Marco Aurelio Nadie podía intuir que aquellos acontecimientos significarían el ocaso de Roma en un futuro tan inmediato. En el año 375 d.C., los hunos irrumpen al norte del Mar Negro, masacran a los alanos, destruyen a los ostrogodos y derrotan a los visigodos encabezados por Atanarico. El resto de los visigodos, liderados por Alavivo y Fritigerno, temiendo por sus vidas, piden autorización para atravesar el Danubio e instalarse dentro de las fronteras del Imperio como federados. Aquella decisión significó el principio del fin. Lucio Caro Preto se alista en el ejército imperial de Oriente y a través de sus ojos iremos conociendo la historia. A través de Róderic, conoceremos como viven esa misma historia los godos y sabremos de los hunos que pronto serán los grandes protagonistas. El final de esta novela reserva una sorpresa que el lector no espera. Roma Eterna es la primera entrega de una trilogía titulada La Caída de Roma, dirigida a aquellos que se sienten apasionados por la novela, la historia, muy en especial por la historia de Roma, y que esperan siempre algo nuevo y diferente. "Los romanos de antes de la caída estaban igual de seguros que nosotros de que su mundo permanecería para siempre esencialmente inalterado". Bryan Ward-Perkins "La historia no es más que el registro de los crímenes, locuras e infortunios de la humanidad" Edward Gibbon "Lo que de verdad sorprende no es la caída de Roma, sino que perdurara tanto tiempo". Edward Gibbon "Los hunos derramaron tanta sangre que era imposible contar los muertos". Calínico "Cuando se está en medio de los adversarios, ya es tarde para ser cauto". Lucio Anneo Séneca Econofakes Sekotia Esta obra estudia la vida familiar de los esclavos de origen africano en un espacio local neogranadino (la villa de San Gil) durante el siglo XVIII. Se trata de una investigación sobre la organización familiar, los lazos conyugales, las relaciones padres e hijos y las diversas circunstancias de la vida diaria que debieron sortear los sectores esclavos. Se observa cómo ellos lograron construir realidades a partir de sus intereses y posibilidades, sorteando las dificultades de su condición para establecer relaciones de parentesco que iban más allá de los vínculos consanguíneos y de los ámbitos de las relaciones esclavistas. Es interesante destacar la capacidad que tuvieron los cautivos para establecer vinculaciones sociales con personas de diversa condición y calidad por medio de los tratos cotidianos y los sacramentos del bautismo

Finalmente, se muestra alguna disposición de los amos para otorgar tratos flexibles y determinadas concesiones que hicieron posible una integración social entre esclavos y los demás sectores de la sociedad local.

This book addresses contemporary discourses on a wide variety of topics related to the ideological and epistemological changes of the 19th, 20th and 21st centuries, and the ways in which they have shaped the Spanish language and cultural manifestations in both

Spain and Hispanic America. The majority of the chapters are concerned with 'otherness' in its various dimensions; the alien Other – foreign, immigrant, ethnically different, disempowered, female or minor – as well as the Other of different sexual orientation and/or ideology. Following Octavio Paz, otherness is expressed as the attempt to find the lost object of desire, the frustrating endeavour of the androgynous Plato wishing to embrace the other half of Zeus, who in his wrath, tore off from him. Otherness compels human beings to search for the complement from which they were severed. Thus a male joins a female, his other half, the only half that not only fills him but which allows him to return to the unity and reconciliation which is restored in its own perfection, formerly altered by divine will. As a result of this transformation, one can annul the distance that keeps us away from that which, not being our own, turns into a source of anguish. The clashing diversity of all things requires the human predisposition to accept that which is different. Such a predisposition is an expression of epistemological, ethical and political aperture. The disposition to co-exist with the different is imagined in the de-anthropocentricization of the bonds with all living realms. And otherness is, in some way, the reflection of sameness (mismidad). The other is closely related to the self, because the vision of the other implies a reflection about the self; it implies, consciously or not, a relationship with the self. These topics are addressed in this book from an interdisciplinary perspective, encompassing arts, humanities and social sciences.

James Casey offers an innovative study of prestige, power and the role of the family in a Mediterranean city during the early modern period. He focuses on the structure and values of the ruling class of Granada, where a new elite consolidated its authority. The study suggests that their power was linked to the pursuit of honour, which demanded participation in the politics of the commonwealth and depended greatly on the network of personal relations which they were able to build with kinsmen, clients and patrons. It explores the way in which this system contributed to the relative tranquillity of the community during a turbulent time of religious and political change, that of the rise of absolutism and of the Counter Reformation. The book sheds fresh light on the nature of the early modern family and will be essential reading for historians of early modern Spain and Europe.

This book offers a detailed overview of translational bioinformatics together with real-case applications. Translational bioinformatics integrates the areas of basic bioinformatics, clinical informatics, statistical genetics and informatics in order to further our understanding of the molecular basis of diseases. By analyzing voluminous amounts of molecular and clinical data, it also provides clinical information, which can then be applied. Filling the gap between clinic research and informatics, the book is a valuable resource for human geneticists, clinicians, health educators and policy makers, as well as graduate students majoring in biology, biostatistics, and bioinformatics. Islam in Education in European Countries. Pedagogical Concepts and Empirical Findings Sekotia Like a giant oil tanker, the world is slowly turning. The rapid growth of economies in Asia and the global South has led to a momentous shift in the world order, leaving much of the traditional literature on globalization behind. Multipolar Globalization: Emerging Economies and Development is the perfect guide to these ongoing 21st-century transformations, combining engaging and wide-ranging coverage with cutting-edge analysis. The rise of China and other emerging economies has led to the emergence of a new geography of trade, new economic and political combinations, new financial actors, investors and donors, and weaker American hegemony. This interdisciplinary volume combines development studies, global political economy, sociology, and cultural studies to ask what this growth means for domestic and global inequality and examines the role of multipolarity in the reshaping of globalization. Renowned globalization scholar Jan Nederveen Pieterse deftly guides the reader through the development of globalization in the West and the East, explaining key topics such as the 2008 crash, trends in inequality, the changing fortunes of the BRICs, and the role of governance and democracy.

Accessible and insightful, this book will be an essential guide for both students in the social sciences and for professionals and scholars seeking a fresh perspective.

Many areas of knowledge converge in the building industry and therefore research in this field necessarily involves an interdisciplinary approach. Effective research requires strong relation between a broad variety of scientific and technological domains and more conventional construction or craft processes, while also considering advanced management processes, where all the main actors permanently interact. This publication takes an interdisciplinary approach grouping various studies on the building industry chosen from among the works presented for the 2nd International Conference on Construction and Building Research. The papers examine aspects of materials and building systems; construction technology; energy and sustainability; construction management; heritage, refurbishment and conservation. The information contained within these pages may be of interest to researchers and practitioners in construction and building activities from the academic sphere, as well as public and private sectors.

A lo largo de la Historia, la idea de progreso ha sido una fuente de inspiración para concebir la sociedad como comunidad que avanza y se perfecciona a través del conocimiento y el esfuerzo colectivo y en este sentido las ideas contemporáneas han puesto en pie una forma radicalmente distinta de entender el mundo. Desde Mayo de 1968, pareció que la transgresión se elevaba a la categoría de dogma y la nueva ortodoxia en rebeldía. En los últimos cincuenta años, nuestra sociedad ha sido remodelada a una velocidad y con una intensidad jamás conocidas. La representación de la realidad predomina sobre la realidad misma. La clave del cambio histórico se encuentra en el control de las percepciones, para imponer un relato, que permita desplazar los hechos desde lo político a lo moral, y desde la razón al sentimiento. Los tumultos de aquel Mayo francés fueron protagonizados por la generación de jóvenes más beneficiados de un sistema -implantado tras la Segunda Guerra Mundial- de paz, seguridad, prosperidad y desarrollo personal jamás conocido en la evolución de la humanidad. Sin embargo sorprendió al establishment político del momento que esa misma generación cuestionase todo el sistema del que se habían beneficiado, y lo hicieran además en favor de ideas decididamente procomunistas. No eran obreros ni campesinos los que se rebelaban, sino burgueses y pequeñoburgueses a los que nada faltaba. Las ideas que entonces se defendieron han sido adoptadas por la élite globalista, neoliberal y ultra capitalista, para imponer como dogma una ideología para el siglo XXI, que pretenden sea adoptada por todos. «Si abrimos una disputa entre pasado y presente, encontraremos que hemos perdido el futuro». Wisnton Churchill «Las ideologías nos separan, los sueños y la angustia nos unen». Eugène Ionesco

 The volume addresses the study of political violence from a humanistic and democratic perspective. The chapters utilize the lens of gender, examine myths and otherness, reflect on structural hunger and fear, and narrate testimonials of exile abroad and in Spain. The methodologies employed are grounded in hermeneutics and discourse analysis.
