 In this elegant edition, Merritt, author and editor of more than 20 books, chronicles how youth is rendered in photographs, as well as other art and literature, over the course of the last 150 years. Highlights include hand-colored photos from Lewis Carroll (including an image of his muse, young Alice Liddell) and masterpieces by Richard Avedon, Andre Kertesz, Sally Mann, Robert Mapplethorpe and Nan Goldin. Cutting no corners, Merritt tackles the usual suspects (children at play, children at rest, children and dogs) as well as the difficult issues: hunger and poverty, embodied in the chilling Great Depression work of Dorothea Lange and Walker Evans; war, including opposing quotations from Adolf Hitler and Anne Frank; and political oppression, as in Carl Iwasaki's shot of Linda Brown in her segregated Kansas classroom prior to her landmark case against the Board of Education. These sobering images are set beside thorough, concerned discussion of critical issues facing children today: AIDS, over-population and famine among them. The text, broken into modes of perception—"the innocent child," "the child assailed," "the child alone," etc.—is peppered with quotes from the likes of Charles Dickens, Oscar Wilde, Rainer Marie Rilke, Jack London, William Wordsworth, Victor Hugo and Herman Hesse. An eclectic, captivating study, this is a fine volume for anyone who works with children or children's welfare issues. 350 four-color and duotone photographs.

No Kiss for Mother Legare Street Press

Cy Parks is the Electric Michelangelo, an artist of extraordinary gifts whose medium happens to be the pliant, shifting canvas of the human body. Fleeing his mother's legacy -- a consumptives' hotel in a fading English seaside resort -- Cy reinvents himself in the incandescent honky-tonk of Coney Island in its heyday between the two world wars. Amid the carnival decadence of freak shows and roller coasters, enchanters and enigmas, scam artists and marks, Cy will find his muse: an enigmatic circus beauty who surrenders her body to his work, but whose soul tantalizingly eludes him. This P.S. edition features an extra 16 pages of insights into the book, including author interviews, recommended reading, and more.

Later Chapters of My Life Baker Books

From the author of The Romanovs: a vivid account of history's most successful political partnership—as sensual and fiery as it was creative and visionary. Catherine the Great was a woman of notorious passion and imperial ambition. Prince Potemkin—wildly flamboyant and sublimely talented—was the love of her life and her co-ruler. Together they seized Ukraine and Crimea, territories that define the Russian sphere of influence to this day. Their affair was so tumultuous that they negotiated an arrangement to share power, leaving each of them free to take younger lovers. But these "twin souls" never stopped loving each other. Drawing on the pair's intimate letters and on vast research, Simon Sebag Montefiore's widely acclaimed biography restores these imperial partners to their rightful place as titans of their age.

This book highlights and examines the role of the textbook in legitimising established political and social orders. It analyses the way in which the 'other' is presented in school textbooks, focusing on a number of countries in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region, and argues that the role of textbooks in developing and maintaining a national identity should be afforded greater critical attention. Textbooks can help form national identities by developing a society's collective memory; this might involve a historical narrative which may be self-contradictory or even fabricated to a certain extent, including myths, symbols and collective memories that divide "us" from "them", and ultimately resulting a dichotomy between the Self and the Other. As well as addressing a range of theoretical questions relating to the study of textbooks generally, the volume also covers a broad spectrum of Middle Eastern states and societies, with contributions from Turkey, Iran, Egypt, Cyprus, Lebanon, Iraq, Kurdistan, Jordan, Morocco, Tunisia, Israel and Palestine. It will be essential reading for researchers and students working in the fields of Education, Sociology and History, particularly those with an interest in national identities in the MENA region.

„Sunt entuziasmat de această carte. O consider un document teribil de impresionant și-o operă de artă admirabilă. Elena și Cosmin sunt eroii mei. Rareori am admirat, am respectat și-am invidiat mai mult pe cineva. Spre deosebire de noi toți, vișători și exploratori de birou, ei au avut curajul să renunțe la o viață comodă, cu salarii mari și cariera asigurată, ca să plece într-o aventură pe care noi, ceilalți, nu ne-o putem imagina decât în romane sau în filme. Viața lor de-a lungul ultimilor ani, când au luat-o teleleu prin lume într-o rulotă de cinci metri pătrați, în care-au trăit, s-au iubit, au scris, au fotografiat și-au suferit împreună, ni se pare o fantastică ficțiune, când în realitate noi suntem cei fictivi. Elena și Cosmin au plecat în căutarea «vieții care se viețuiește» și-a omului real, care se revelează nu în lumea standardizată și domesticită în care trăim noi, consumatorii de cultură, ci în sărăcie cruntă, în case dărăpănate, în violență incredibilă, în comunități uitate de Dumnezeu, în pușcării și-n ghetouri. Cei doi au băut peturi de bere cot la cot cu oamenii întâlniți, au povestit cu ei, uneori despre omoruri și tâlhării, au luat purici și păduchi de la ei. Au trăit la fel ca ei, uneori mai rău, impregnându-se de damful umanității reale. Vorbim adesea de «România profundă» fără să avem habar despre ce vorbim. Prin cartea celor doi ajungem să măsurăm această profunzime. Elena și Cosmin m-au primit în rulota lor, mi-au arătat-o în toate detaliile ei claustrofobice. Rareori m-am simțit mai diminuat și mai trist. N-aș fi putut trăi viața lor nici trei zile. Dar faptul că ei există, în afara convențiilor care ne fac conformiști și depresivi, și că dau astfel mărturie despre ce-nseamnă cu adevărat libertatea e o mare consolare pentru mine. Măcar știu, prin ei, că eroismul e real și palpabil, nu o noțiune goală.” (Mircea Cărtărescu)
