"Show[s] the enormous talent of Raymond Carver beginning to take hold." —San Francisco Chronicle A wide-ranging collection by the extravagantly versatile Raymond Carver. Two of the stories that were later significantly revised in What We Talk About When We Talk About Love appear here in their original form, revealing clearly the astounding process of Carver's literary development.

Ce volume comprend 19 articles dont 7 sont consacrés au film d'Altman ou à une analyse comparative du film et des nouvelles de Carver. Les autres articles traitent exclusivement des textes de Carver (9 nouvelles et un poème) mais dans des perspectives très différentes, qui incluent l'approche linguistique dans le cadre de la théorie des opérations énonciatives. Dans les nouvelles de Carver comme dans le film d'Altman, on vit dans le monde contemporain et quotidien : couples en détresse, conflits et retrouvailles, petites mesquineries et crimes ignobles, jalousie et générosité... On passe des cris aux rires puis aux larmes et aussi d'une séquence filmique ou narrative à une autre, d'une nouvelle à une autre. La question de la fragmentation et de la continuité se pose dans les deux œuvres, de même que celle de la représentation du réel (mimésis, indirection, ellipse) ou encore du ton (empathie ? ironie ? dérision ?). Carver comme Altman se sont posé la même question qui séduit encore lecteurs et spectateurs : comment rendre compte du quotidien et du banal, Carver dirait " de ce qui importe " ? Les réponses apportées diffèrent et peuvent même être radicalement opposées (foisonnement du film ; économie des nouvelles, par exemple) mais à aucun moment elles ne sont indifférentes.

Where I'm Calling from Coolest Stories Press

The complete uncollected fiction and nonfiction, including the five posthumously discovered "last" stories, published here in book form for the first time—from "one of the great short story writers of our time—of any time" (The Philadelphia Inquirer). Call If You Need Me includes all of the prose previously collected in No Heroics, Please, four essays from Fires, and those five marvelous stories that range over the period of Carver's mature writing and give his devoted readers a final glimpse of the great writer at work. The pure pleasure of Carver's writing is everywhere in his work, here no less than in those stories that have already entered the canon of modern literature.

Fires FeniXX

Bien peu de ceux qui ont vu Short Cuts - considéré comme l'un des films majeurs du cinéma américain des années 90 - savent qu'il a été tiré de l'œuvre de Raymond Carver. S'appuyant principalement sur neuf nouvelles et un poème, le cinéaste Robert Altman s'est approprié ce matériau insolite et multiple, l'a réorganisé et en a lié subtilement les contenus. Comment ces récits, à l'origine en parallèle, ont été tout à la fois modifiés, emboîtés, amplifiés, réduits et réunis, c'est ce que cet ouvrage se propose d'analyser. Les choix opérés par les scénaristes, ramenant la mosaïque de narrateurs imaginés par l'écrivain à un point de vue unique, pour osés qu'ils soient, donnent une vision distanciée et inoubliable des microsomes carvériens, transposés dans la Californie de l'été 92. Unité de temps, unité de lieu pour parvenir à un seul récit emplis d'échos innombrables, de références aux textes et d'emprunts parfois surprenants. Comme certain personnage de Carver - et son double à l'écran -, Altman et son co-scénariste Frank Barhydt coupent ce qui les dérange, raccourcissent et replacent ce qu'ils veulent où ils le veulent. Ils se jouent des contraintes apparentes et des différences fondamentales existant entre les deux systèmes de récit, nouvelle et cinéma. Le film interroge, étonne, renvoie en permanence aux contenus implicites de Carver. Ce va-et-vient incessant du film aux textes, et des textes au film, oblige à porter un regard neuf sur l'univers dépeint par l'écrivain, à admirer avec quel art de l'ellipse il parle de ce qui l'intéresse : " La vie, toujours la vie. "

The Pugilist at Rest Science-Into-Fiction

A rich collection of poems from not only “one of the great short story writers of our time” (The Philadelphia Inquirer), but one of America’s most large-hearted and affecting poets. Like Raymond Carver’s stories, the more than 300 poems in All of Us are marked by a keen attention to the physical world; an uncanny ability to compress vast feeling into discreet moments; a voice of conversational intimacy, and an unstinting sympathy. This complete edition brings together all the poems of Carver’s five previous books, from Fires to the posthumously published No Heroics, Please. It also contains bibliographical and textual notes on individual poems; a chronology of Carver’s life and work; and a moving introduction by Carver’s widow, the poet Tess Gallagher.

Arranged chronologically, this book affords an intimate and comprehensive thirty-year vision of a great writer in the process of becoming himself.

Will You Please Be Quiet, Please? Macmillan + ORM

The first collection of stories from “one of the great short story writers of our time” (The Philadelphia Inquirer) breathed new life into the American short story, showing us the humor and tragedy that dwell in the hearts of ordinary people. “[Carver's stories] can ... be counted among the masterpieces of American Literature.”

—The New York Times Book Review “One of the great short story writers of our time—of any time.” —The Philadelphia Inquirer “The whole collection is a knock out. Few writers can match Raymond Carver's entwining style and language.” —The Dallas Morning News

Collected Stories of Raymond Chandler Panhandle Books

From the bestselling author of The Passenger and the Pulitzer Prize-winning novel The Road comes a “profoundly disturbing and gorgeously rendered” novel (The Washington Post) that returns to the Texas-Mexico border, setting of the famed Border Trilogy. The time is our own, when rustlers have given way to drug-runners and small towns have become free-fire zones. One day, a good old boy named Llewellyn Moss finds a pickup truck surrounded by a bodyguard of dead men. A load of heroin and two million dollars in cash are still in the back. When Moss takes the money, he sets off a chain reaction of catastrophic violence that not even the law—in the person of aging, disillusioned Sheriff Bell—can contain. As Moss tries to evade his pursuers—in particular a mysterious mastermind who flips coins for human lives—McCarthy simultaneously strips down the American crime novel and broadens its concerns to encompass themes as ancient as the Bible and as bloodily contemporary as this morning’s headlines. No Country for Old Men is a triumph. Look for Cormac McCarthy's latest bestselling novels, The Passenger and Stella Maris.

The most celebrated story collection from "one of the true American masters" (The New York Review of Books)—a haunting meditation on love, loss, and companionship, and finding one's way through the dark that includes the iconic and much-referenced title story featured in the Academy Award-winning film Birdman. "Raymond Carver's America is ... clouded by pain and the loss of dreams, but it is not as fragile as it looks. It is a place of survivors and a place of stories.... [Carver] has done what many of the most gifted writers fail to do: He has invented a country of his own, like no other except that very world, as Wordsworth said, which is the world to all of us." —The New York Times Book Review

American Short Story Masterpieces Messène

The nine stories and one poem collected in this volume formed the basis for the astonishingly original film "Short Cuts" directed by Robert Altman. Collected altogether in this volume, these stories form a searing and indelible portrait of American innocence and loss. From the collections Will You Please Be Quiet, Please?, Where I'm Calling From, What We Talk About When We Talk About Love, and A New Path to the Waterfall; including an introduction by Robert Altman. With deadpan humor and enormous tenderness, this is the work of "one of the true contemporary masters" (The New York Review of Books).

In post-WWII South America, a struggling writer embarks on a murderous thought experiment to help kickstart his career in this next tale of longing from the author of Zama. The Silentiary takes place in a nameless Latin American city during the early 1950s. A young man employed in middle management entertains an ambition to write a book of some sort. But first he must establish the necessary precondition, which the crowded and noisily industrialized city always denies him, however often he and his mother and wife move in search of it. He thinks of embarking on his writing career with something simple, a detective novel, and ponders the possibility of choosing a victim among the people he knows and planning a crime as if he himself were the killer. That way, he hopes, his book might finally begin to take shape. The Silentiary, along with Zama and The Suicides, is one of the three thematically linked novels by Di Benedetto that have come to be known as the Trilogy of Expectation, after the dedication "To the victims of expectation" in Zama. Together they constitute, in Juan José Saer's words, "one of the culminating moments of twentieth-century narrative fiction in Spanish."

"Raymond Carver, known in some circles as the "godfather of minimalism," has been credited by many as the rejuvenator of the once-dying American short story. Drawing on representative tales from each of Carver's major volumes of fiction, Nessel's critical exploration leads us deep into the heart of Carver country, an eerie post-industrial world of low-rent survivors." "In this comprehensive study of Carver, Nessel discusses the relationship of minimalism and postmodern trends and the rise of new realism. By locating Carver in the gallery of American letters, Nessel shows him to be at once more simple and more complex than we might have believed, skillfully laying the groundwork for Carver studies to come."--BOOK JACKET.Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America, Inc. No Heroics, Please Vintage

"Carver's gifts as a storyteller shine through his poetry" (Los Angeles Times) in this collection that moves from the beauty of the world to thoughts of mortality and family and art. One of Raymond Carver's final collections of poetry, this collection "has the astonished, chastened voice of a person who has survived a wreck, as surprised that he had a life before it as that he has one afterward, willing to remember both sides" (The New York Times Book Review).

No Country for Old Men Everyman's Library

Based on the life of the great short-story writer Raymond Carver, Scissors is a compassionate and convincing portrayal of the creative life. An alcoholic with no money, Raymond's writing career is going nowhere. When the charismatic editor Douglas, known ominously as "Scissors" among his peers, takes an interest in his stories, Raymond finally has a chance to make his mark—but he must decide between fame and artistic integrity. As Raymond wrestles with the dramatic changes Douglas insists he make to his manuscripts, his family has their own ideas about the form his work should take, and these, too, cannot be ignored. Calling into question the meaning of literary ownership, and capturing the compulsions, rewards, frustrations, and affinities with tragedy that come with the writerly life, Scissors is a story about love, loneliness, and the ways in which fiction can bring us together—and tear us apart.
