This paper describes a real-time optical analyzer which has the ability to perform spectral as well as cepstral analysis. It can serve either as a fine or gross resolution cepstrum analysis device. This resolution depends upon the optical aperture and the spatial frequencies recorded on a magnetic tape loop. In addition, because the optical system also serves as a frequency analyzer, it can be considered as a general-purpose real-time frequency analyzer which can be utilized with a number of vocoding techniques. These techniques include the standard channel vocoder, voice excited vocoder, and the formant tracking vocoder.

Test questions are provided for each chapter of this textbook, together with detailed mark schemes to make assessment easy. Two versions of each question are provided. One allows pupils to write their answers in the spaces provided and the other requires pupils to have separate writing paper. Questions can be grouped according to needs.

Master grids are provided to cut and paste tests together in a consistent format to use the resource in any order. Chapter tests can be grouped to form a module test after chapters. End-of-chapter examinations can also be produced in this way. A free non-calculator supplement organized by unit/chapter is also included in this resource.

This two-volume book documents all the reported and unreported cases of Public Interest Litigation (PIL) from its inception in 1979 to April 1994. The author stresses that the law is not autonomous, but embodies the priorities of those involved in establishing and maintaining a legal system. She shows how PIL provides a means whereby the terms of the legal discourse may be challenged; equally she shows how PIL suffers, paradoxically, by being a part of the very system it seeks to question.
